

Taking Manufacturing by Storm

WebsterRogers LLP has a long history of working with manufacturing businesses in South Carolina, so it makes sense that this 32-year-old public accounting firm is taking the manufacturing industry by storm by helping clients grow their businesses with innovative solutions. The Firm's Manufacturing Services Team is delivering on a client-centric business model that leverages its competitive edge of unmatched accessibility from nine offices throughout the state, strategic partnerships to broaden service offerings, and its access to global resources.

The team's goal is to proactively guide and counsel clients so that they can become as successful and profitable as possible. If that means aligning with other providers of services beyond their core competencies of tax, accounting, and audit, then that's what they do for their clients. CPAs enjoy the reputation of "trusted advisor," so who is better to examine a business's varied components than the advisor who helps you account for every penny flowing into and out of it?

With its finger on the pulse of the state's manufacturing landscape, WebsterRogers is at the core of thought leadership with event sponsorships and CFO Council roundtables. WebsterRogers is helping manufacturing clients achieve measureable results by offering scalable solutions they craft through strategic partnerships with organizations and select consultants that serve manufacturers.

No manufacturer seeking success in South Carolina is too large or possesses needs too complex for this firm. WebsterRogers is a member of the McGladrey Alliance, with access to the resources of RSM US LLP (formerly known as McGladrey LLP), the leading provider of audit, tax, and consulting services focused on the middle market, with more the 8,000 people in 80 offices nationwide. RSM US LLP is a licensed CPA firm and the U.S. member of RSM International, a global network of independent audit, tax and consulting firms with more than 37,500 people in over 110 countries.
